4. Source(s) of military/civilian untaxed income: Please note: In accordance with the Department of Defense (DOD) all active duty military will receive BAS, BAH and Clothing Allowance with the exception of "O" rank service members and "W" warrant officers. You can view DOD's website at <https://mypay.dfas.mil/mypay.aspx> for further clarification. Additionally, even if you are living in on base housing, you must report the "cash" value as indicated on the above worksheet.

SOURCE	MONTHLY	2007 TOTAL
OHA (Overseas Housing Allowance)
COLA (Cost of Living Allowance)
Meal Card
Separate rations/BAS (Basic Allowance for Subsistence)
Clothing Allowance for 2007
TLA (Temporary Lodging Allowance) for 2007
FSA (Family Separation Allowance) for 2007
BAH (Basic Housing Allowance) – use above worksheet
Veterans Non-Education Benefits
Any other untaxed income and benefits
TOTAL

BAH is, in effect, paid to all ranks. For example, if you resided in the barracks or housing for all or part of 2007, your paycheck will not show a dollar amount for any housing allowance, nor will your LES (leave and earning statement) show such an allotment. Nevertheless, you are required by federal regulations to include the "cash value" for such housing as part of your untaxed income. The figures in the BAH (Basic Allowance for Housing) Worksheet are from the finance office.

These figures are effective January 1, 2007. Anyone who changed pay grades during 2007 should prorate figures to derive the total BAH (e.g. E4 for 5 months x amount plus E5 for 7 months x amount)

*Students who received VHA in their BAQ should report the difference.
